

Call for Papers and Panels

THE PHILOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION OF THE CAROLINAS
(PAC) WWW.PACHOME.ORG

“Literature as Bridge”

34th Annual PAC Conference The College of Charleston—
Charleston, S.C. 11-13 March 2010

We welcome papers and panels on any topic of interest to literature and language scholars. Past sessions have focused on English, American, world and multiethnic literatures, as well as on linguistics, composition, and pedagogy. Especially encouraged are proposals that consider literary works as a bridge to understanding. Several papers from each conference are published in Postscript, the peer-reviewed journal of the Philological Association of the Carolinas. The Don Joiner Award is given to the best manuscript published in Postscript, as is an award for the best graduate student submission. See <http://www.unca.edu/postscript/> for more details.

Email proposals along with a brief abstract and CV by 6 December 2009 to:

American / British Topics

Dr. Blake Hobby
bhobby@unca.edu

Assistant Professor of Literature and Language
University of North Carolina at Asheville

Foreign / Comparative / Linguistics / Pedagogy Topics

Dr. David Smith
smithdav@ecu.edu

Assistant Professor of German
East Carolina University

Panel proposals must include a letter of justification along with the session title; brief abstracts in English of all proposed papers; and the names, email addresses, and institutional affiliation of all participants. Each session should consist of presenters from more than one institution and contain no more than one paper by a graduate student.